

Release of Liability

I hereby acknowledge that I am entering into martial arts training on my own accord. I understand that martial arts are a dynamic activity that involves strenuous physical activity and physical contact with instructors and training partners. I release the owners of the Houston American Kenpo Training Platform (HAKTP) and affiliated organizations, my instructor and my fellow students of any liability should I become injured during my training.

I understand that I am receiving specific training in defensive combative concepts and techniques, which if properly employed could inflict serious injury to a person. If I deem it necessary to utilize any of these techniques to defend myself, or my family, I release HAKTP and my instructor from any liability regarding these incidents.
